

WRECK CAR AND SIDEWALK AT DEAD END STREET

As Ernest Edwards Jr., was returning to his home in Mokena about midnight last Friday night, he was going west on Carpenter street, in front of the school, and did not notice that Carpenter street ended at Division street and drove across Division street, jumping the ditch and tearing up several blocks of concrete sidewalk. Also breaking off a water buffalo box of an old and unused city water main. It is alleged he stated he did not notice the street ended at that place.

Edwards, who was spending the week end at his home in Mokena from the Great Lakes, where he is stationed, was driving a 1941 Pontiac club coupe. It was badly damaged, the front end being completely crushed. Only bruises and minor injuries were sustained by Edwards who was alone in the machine.

Saturday morning the wrecked car was towed to the Cooper & Hostert garage. Edwards returned Saturday to his station at Great Lakes.

Farmers Warned More Storage is Needed

At the farm leaders meeting Tuesday in the Will County AAA office, Farm Bureau building, Joliet, heavy stress was laid on the need for each farmer to provide adequate facilities for this year's grain harvest.

This meeting, which was called to review the grain storage problem as it exists in Will County and to outline an active campaign to meet it, was conducted by Conrad Borms, Chairman of the County AAA Committee, and Wayne G. Churchill, local Farm Adviser.

Mr. Borms said, "This is a year when practically all crops are of record proportions—not only here, but throughout the nation."

Carlton F. Steigle, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan association of Joliet stated, "In the face of this prospective harvest there does not now exist sufficient storage space either commercially or on farms to handle the additional grain. Neither can markets absorb a major portion of it, and we must recognize that any attempt to dump large amounts at the time of harvest will mean the risk of throwing prices in a further tailspin. Taking such a risk might also jeopardize the entire price support structure."

Wayne G. Churchill, Farm Adviser stated he would be pleased to make recommendations to any farmer in doubt as to how to proceed in constructing either temporary or permanent grain storage cribs. A farmer with storage space is in a position to make his own determinations as to when and how to use or dispose of his grain. He is not forced to market when conditions are adverse.

The building supply situation was summed up by Leslie Lewis, Manager of Will Du-Page Service company, who stated that his office and lumbermen have pledged their full cooperation in trying to furnish needed materials, but asked in return that farmers place orders immediately so they might have a better chance of laying in necessary supplies.

Andrew W. Swanberg and Christ Kohl of the Will County AAA Committee, together with all community committee members, agreed that each and every farmer should survey his own production and storage situation and take immediate steps to provide whatever additional storage is required.

Chairman Borms urged the farmers to call at the AAA office to discuss their respective individual problems. Purchase agreements and loans are available on corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye and soybeans under the Government price-support program.

In conclusion, Arthur J. Kelly, Soil Conservationist, who recently returned from a good will tour to Spain, gave an interesting description of farming conditions as they exist in Spain. Mr. Kelly stated that grapes and olives appeared to be the principal agricultural crops. The climate in central and southern Spain was hot and dry. Vegetation was so sparse that horses could not thrive and mules were used as horsepower.

Don't Lose Your Vote

We would draw your attention to an advertisement in this issue concerning the registration of voters. No one can vote who is not registered. No one can vote who has not lived in the state for one year, county for 90 days and in the precinct for 30 days, or who has not maintained a voting address in such a place. Be sure to see that you are properly registered. Your county, and township officials are anxious to help you, and are willing to cooperate with each voter in this respect. October 4 is not very far away, so it is best to attend to this legal ruling at once.

Delinquent Tax List

In this issue is published the delinquent tax notices for the townships of New Lenox and Frankfort. Interest is added to the tax amount which increases each month.

To be a good Communist, you have to either lack a sense of humor or else be absolutely blank in the noggin. You have to be able to cry "Materialist" to the American business-man on one hand, and ignore Russia's slave-labor and locked churches on the other.—Frank Moss.

WELL KNOWN ORLAND WOMAN DIED SATURDAY

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning September 21 in St. Michael's church in Orland Park for Mrs. Maria Smith, who passed away in St. Francis hospital in Blue Island Saturday following a lingering illness.

The deceased was born in Orland township March 14, 1869, the daughter of Mathias and Helen Wagner. In her childhood she attended the Ross school, and on June 16, 1892 she was married to Mr. Martin Smith. With the exception of three years when she and her husband moved to Nebraska, she lived all her life in Orland township.

To them were born ten children, three of whom preceded their mother in death.

She was a member of St. Michael's church in Orland and was active in the Alar and Rosary society and Royal Neighbors of America. Mr. and Mrs. Smith lived on their farm at 139th and Wolf road until December 1943 when they retired and came to Orland to live. She had been in good health until 1942 when she suffered a severe heart attack. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1942.

ILLINOIS STATE AUTO LICENSE TO BE OF METAL

Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett has announced that the 1949 automobile license plates will be made of steel for the first time since 1941.

A dark blue background with canary yellow numerals and letters will be the color combination. This color scheme was chosen because the sharp contrast between the two colors provides high readability and because it is a marked change from the bright orange background with black numerals used on the 1948 plates.

During the war years, when steel was in critically short supply, Illinois switched to making most of its automobile license plates of a fiber material. Secretary Barrett said. While the use of this material was successful and effected a saving in mailing costs, it is now extremely difficult to obtain, he said. Under those circumstances, it was advisable to return to the use of steel, he added.

During 1949, the same as in 1948 special plates will be issued to disabled armed service veterans bearing the words, "Disabled Veteran" on them, Mr. Barrett said.

With 1948 motor vehicle registrations at an all-time high, Secretary Barrett predicted that 1949 will see a still greater increase reaching a possible 2,500,000.

CROWDED CONDITION OF MOKENA SCHOOL CITED BY MRS. CAPPEL

Enrollment in the Mokena public school this year shows an increase of students over last year's. In the first grade there are 25 new beginners and in the second, 24 pupils with Mrs. Mary Krause, teacher.

Room two, with Mrs. Lois Shewski, teacher; third grade, 21 pupils and fourth grade 18.

Room three, Mrs. Hilda Seeman, teacher, fifth grade 13, and sixth 15.

Room four, seventh grade, 17 pupils and eighth grade 28. Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel is principal and teaches mathematics in the seventh and eighth grades and Mrs. Ruby Wheatley, teaching the other subjects in these two grades as well as music in all the grades. This makes a total of 163 pupils in the school, and is above the pupil capacity of the school.

Mrs. Cappel presented this overcrowded condition of the school to the members of the school board at their meeting September 14.

The present school building offers no relief to this crowded condition which will become worse because of the continuous increased building activity in this school district, No. 159. Each new home in this territory means more students in the school.

The school board is deferring building plans until a decision has been rendered by the State Supreme Court on the recommendations as recently made by the School Survey committee.

Today he has more than 225,000 canteens installed in factories and offices, altho he started the company during the depression on a shoe string.

To Stop Motorbike Racing in Mokena

The village officials of Mokena are very indignant over the way the village youth are playing on the streets.

Quite a few young people, girls and boys, have motor bikes and are using the main streets of the village to play tag and race with each other on their motor bikes, and to make it worse they also race with automobiles.

Mayor Cooper says this must stop. Therefore, in the near future the village fathers are going to take it upon themselves to be stationed at many corners in the village and will arrest all youths found racing on the streets. There is a heavy penalty attached to this crime and the limit will be used for the first offense. It is felt that these young people are old enough to know the great danger to the public in such escapades.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West I called on. And while I don't like to give myself orchids, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to run your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

Birds Like Trees That Provide Seasonal Snacks

To get birds to feather their nests in your vicinity, they've got to have all the comforts of home—namely trees that attract them.

Right now many of our feathered friends are making plans for the migration to more desirable climes for winter. However, now's the time nature lovers may plan tree plantings that will attract them on their return visit, says Martin L. Davey Jr., president of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Like men, birds can be reached through their stomachs. They particularly like to flit about cherry trees during the fruiting season. Of course, they are apt to nibble off a good many cherries, but you may consider this a very minor price to pay for the privilege of having them about your grounds.

Among the birds likely to frolic about cherry trees are song sparrows, orioles, scarlet tanagers, kingbirds, grosbeaks, robins and brown thrashers. For such feathered stay at homes as the robins, the crabapple provides a small fruit the birds relish after Jack Frost gets busy in the fall.

The mulberry ranks close to the cherry in providing a meeting place for attractive chirpers. The fruit, of course, is the main attraction. Others include the redbud, tupelo, mountain ash; hawthorn; hackberry and flowering dogwood. Most of the latter provide autumn and winter meals for the non-migratory birds.

Such shrubs as blackberries, elderberries, blueberries and huckleberries make choice tid-bits in summer while the barberry and the sumac contribute edibles in winter. The diet you offer birds plays a most important part in attracting them to your grounds—and in keeping them there.

With a more even distribution of livestock numbers, improved forage and continued consumer demand, officials estimate that the country can support a beef and dairy cattle population of 95 million by 1958.

Need for Civil Engineers Vital

If state highway departments want more graduate civil engineers, they must go out after them with offers of higher salaries and definite futures.

The present dearth of civil engineering graduates entering state highway departments is being keenly felt throughout the nation. The war took its toll of highway department personnel as well as leaving its unmistakable mark on the country's roads. Immediate remedial action is necessary to combat the ravages of time and inadequate maintenance if the nation is to preserve its present highway system. The ever increasing volume of motor vehicle traffic over the nation's highways shows a growing need for construction of more highways and the improvement of existing ones. Trained engineers are desperately needed if the immense job is to be done properly and quickly.

Industry taps the source of civil engineers for a large share of the graduates. By virtue of expanding business, industry offers engineering graduates not only the feature of higher salaries but also the companion attractions of job stability and prospective advancement. In order to acquire their share of graduating engineers each year, highway departments must be able to offer starting salaries and opportunities to get ahead equal to those proffered by industry.—Charles M. Upham Engineer Director.

Will County 4H Team Wins in State Poultry Judging Event

Vernon Lankenau, Maurice Soucie and William Schoop were members of the Will county 4H poultry judging team which was one of the two blue ribbon teams in the State Poultry Judging Contest held at the University of Illinois Saturday, September 4. In this contest, there were 13 counties represented with over 80 contestants participating. This is the third consecutive year in which a Will County Poultry Judging team has received an A rating.

Will county was represented by John Smith, Clyde Dralle, Ronald Koelling, Ralph Morrison; Wayne Triem and Reynold Siemsen in the state dairy judging contest. A team consisting of Ronald Koelling, Vernon Siemsen and Wayne Triem received a red ribbon in the state contest. There were 61 counties represented with 360 participating in the State dairy judging contest.

Margaret Beck, Wm. Krapf, Joseph Roth, Jerry Warning; Jack Chestnut and Wesley Haas represented Will County in the State Livestock Judging contest. Jack Chestnut was given a B rating as individual as was Joseph Roth. Sixty five counties were represented in the livestock judging contest with 320 contestants participating.

According to Clarence Castle, assistant farm adviser, Will county 4H members should indeed be very proud of their judging achievement this year. There were only 11 A teams in the three state contest and Will county received one of them; of the 35 B teams in the contest, Will county received one red ribbon.

Urge Improved Driver Licensing

Spotty and inadequate examination of American automobile drivers is abetting the annual traffic carnage of more than 32,000 lives says the Accident Prevention Department, Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. These safety experts today urged all states to review their licensing laws and bring them up to standards needed for greater safety.

"Just how many of the estimated 50 million American drivers on the road will be physically and mentally qualified to operate automobiles is anybody's guess," the Department declared, "because many jurisdictions still cling to substandard regulations or have no rules at all."

Licensing Standards Lax

In four states any person can obtain a driving permit merely by applying for one, without any examination or road test at all. Another state examines would-be drivers only if they are physically handicapped or 80 years old. In 10 states youngsters of 14 and 15 may drive without restriction. In another state any irresponsible person can get behind the wheel, because no driver's permit or examination of any kind are required.

"The result of this substandard licensing pattern is that many cars on the road today are driven by persons not safely qualified to do so," say the Department's experts. "Epileptics, mental degenerates, persons with failing eye sight and hearing, in short, menaces to the lives of everyone in striking distance can get behind the wheel and roar through traffic at will."

Proper licensing laws—requiring thorough driver examination—and efficient enforcement of them would do a great deal to prevent the great number of tragedies which occur annually on the nation's streets and highways, the Department added.

Layers in Illinois farm flocks produced the record high average of 15.3 eggs per layer during July, 5 percent higher than a year earlier and 13 percent above the 10-year average.

Faith: A Family Tradition

Lesson for September 26, 1948

HERE IS a brief Bible quiz: What Christian man did Paul recommend to the Philippians as the one completely unselfish person he knew? When Paul needed a man to present his ideas to a "problem church," whom did he send? When Paul wanted reliable information about a church, on whose report did he depend? Whom did Paul call "son" more often than any one else? The answer to all these questions is the same: Timothy.

Certainly a man whom the great Saint Paul found so congenial, so reliable, so unselfish and effective a Christian, is a man worth our careful attention. We ask this question about him: What made him what he was? *

Faith at Home

SOME MEN have to leave home to find faith. But perhaps the happiest Christians, certainly the most fortunate, are those who cannot remember what it was not to have faith. It was the atmosphere they breathed as children. The first people they knew were Christians, prayer and faith were taken for granted, the name of Christ was heard only in reverence and love, never in jest or anger.

Timothy grew up in such a home. When he became a mature, working Christian he had no wasted years to regret, no wild oats to pull up. The faith of his adult mind was not scarred by the acid remains of earlier doubt. Timothy's life was all of one piece. He was born to faith, he grew up in it.

Homes can do a great deal for the children who live in them. But nothing else—physical health, poise, culture, friends, ambition—nothing else is quite so valuable a gift or quite so lasting, as faith.

In later years faith may have to be pounded into a person or shocked into him; but in childhood faith is woven in, and that is as it should be. Happy the Christian who does not have to turn his back on his childhood when he turns his face to Christ! *

Book of Wisdom

"RELIGION cannot be taught, it can only be caught," is an old saying. It is partly true, for you cannot set any dozen people at random down on a bench and teach them into faith. If teaching religion were as simple as that, then every Sunday school could guarantee that every one of its graduates would become a saint. Nevertheless, religion can partly be taught, for in a book there may be crystallized the faith of many a generation. A book may concentrate and preserve the insight, the inspiration, the assurance of men and women who though dead yet speak.

Living with books of faith is like living with many families of faith at the same time. Such a book is the Bible. And it was the Bible, or so much of it as had been written, the Old Testament, which was the one Book in Timothy's boyhood home. Through the Scriptures, the boy's mother taught her son not merely her own faith but that of many a generation before her time.

In our own day, parents may feel that they come too far short of being saints, so they hesitate about urging their perhaps dimly-felt religion on their children. Yet in our Bible there is open to all fathers and mothers a means of placing their children in an atmosphere of intense faith.

Personal religious genius is rare, but even though you may be any thing but a genius, you still can bring to your child the treasures of the Bible, product of the highest inspiration and insight the world has known. *

Women of the Family

TIMOTHY'S FATHER was Greek, probably not a Christian. He and Timothy may never have understood each other. It was the women of the family who molded the boy's mind and heart, his mother, Eunice, and his grandmother, Lois.

It is always so. It is the women of a family who have most influence for faith or against it. The boy knows his mother before he knows any one else. She teaches him to talk, he absorbs her attitudes and ideas even before he understands them. If father and mother differ in religion, it is likely that children will follow mother rather than father. *

The Lowdown From Hickory Grove

Today I am treading on a ticklish subject. Education. I am against it. Wow, says Henry, you are the same as ruined. Hold your shirt, I says, you are too petulant. I am against only a certain kind. I am for the kind of education that will bulge the noggin of our brash youth with the fundamentals that will cause them to appreciate a Republic under which they can go far and prosper much if they choose to work a half hour overtime.

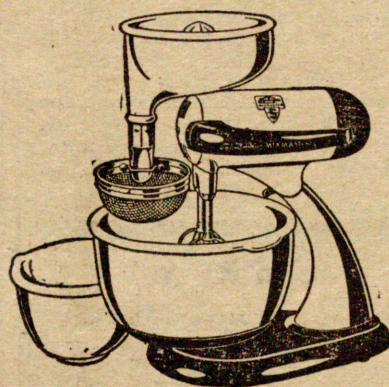

How you gonna do it, says Henry. You take as a sample, I says, those trustees in Texas where they tapped their university president on the shoulder and said, "cut out this New Deal frothy teachings, buddy, or out you go." And not doing so, out he went.

One of our off-shoots came home one day and told how his professor said that the coal in the ground, the oil, the trees on the mountains, the power of the waterfalls, were all put there by the Almighty and belonged to the people. But that is exactly how it works now all over Europe, where the Govt. has taken over and runs these businesses—for the people, it says. But we of the U. S. A. keep on feeding Europe. Some of our big schools dish out too much such truck. That kind of education, sisters and brothers, is the kind I am against.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

According to Dr. John L. Lavan, in an article written for the World Book Encyclopedia, a substance called histamine is partially responsible for a host of allergies, including hay fever, asthma, hives, eczema, inflammation of the eye membranes, digestive disturbances, migraine headaches, and even some forms of epilepsy.

The trouble maker, histamine, is always present in the cells of the body. When a person comes in contact with an offending substance, histamine enters the blood. When histamine occurs in the blood stream in too large amounts, it causes the blood vessels and the surrounding tissues to swell. As little as one-millionth part of histamine in the blood is capable of producing allergic symptoms. If the swelling occurs in the nasal membranes, hay fever might result. Swelling in the lining of the bronchial tubes may produce asthma.

According to the World Book article, it is not yet understood what causes the body of an individual to become sensitive to a substance which is harmless, or even wholesome, to another person.

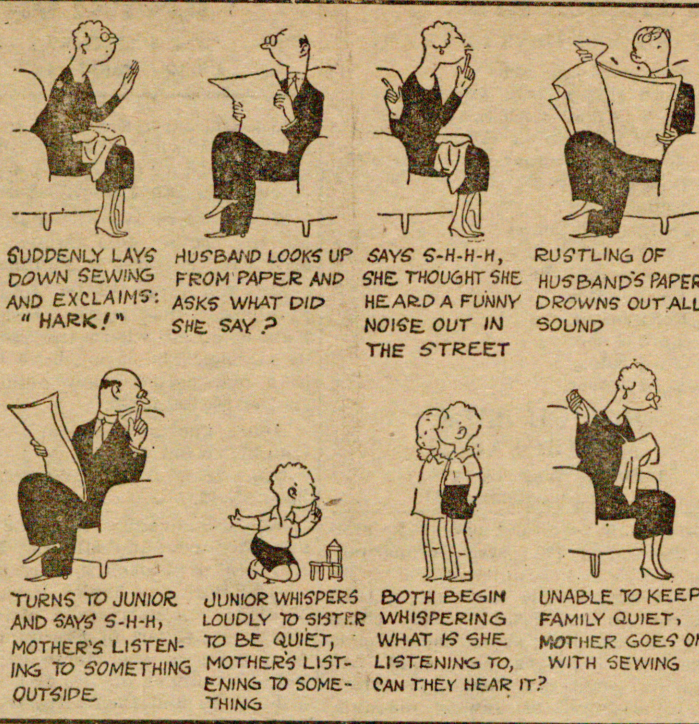

The substances which cause allergies are numbered in thousands. Milk, wheat, eggs, anesthetics, serums, fur, face powder, clothing dye, feathers, house dust, and pollen are only a few of the many substances which may bother certain individuals.

During the war, one healthy draftee was whisked off to camp, where he quickly passed the mental and physical exam. Two days later he was home with an honorable discharge. The patriotic lad enlisted in the Navy—but again he was rejected after several days. The boy was unable to wear Army or Navy clothes because he was allergic to a substance used in the manufacture of the material.

According to Dr. Lavan, allergies can be treated by desensitization, which makes the patient less sensitive to the offending substance. This is accomplished by giving the patient small doses of the substance until a natural immunity develops. This treatment is administered with either a hypodermic or taken through the mouth.

Town + Farm

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

IF YOU'VE been wondering how long you can keep a bottle of milk wholesome in your refrigerator, here's the answer, according to results from research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This research has doped out that if your refrigerator is a good one, it will keep milk safely up to three or even four days. By a "good refrigerator," they mean, one that keeps the temperature well under 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Then pasteurized milk was found to keep sweet even after four days, regardless of summer weather—when bacteria grow much faster than in winter. Of course, that's providing the milk is sweet and fresh when it goes into storage.

The longer you folks in town leave the milk on the porch, the quicker you'll have sour milk. And, applied to the dairyman, it isn't a good idea to leave the milk stand in the pail.

Some persons have picked up the erroneous idea that milk improves with age, but not all of us have appetites for sour cream pancakes and biscuits. USDA says that milk and cream will spoil quickly when stored at a temperature above 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and you'll be a lot safer if you get your refrigerator down to 35-40 degrees.

This doesn't mean that the old ice box won't keep your dairy products. A good ice refrigerator will put the mercury well under 50 degrees. If homemakers do find their milk sour, they can use most of it in baking or cooking, but what does the farmer do?

It's been noted on many farms that milk and milk by-products have real feeding value for poultry. You can feed milk daily or occasionally, either sweet or sour. Milk is a good feed for poultry of all ages because of its proteins, vitamins and minerals. It stimulates feed consumption in general, making better chickens for better eating.

Accident Facts

Styles change in accidents, as well as in clothes.

This is shown in the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook published by the National Safety Council. The figures show falls were the commonest type of fatal accident 35 years ago, with railroad accidents running second.

Here are the major types of fatal accidents in 1913 and in 1947, as shown in "Accident Facts." They are listed with the worst killers first, and on down the scale.

If it is true, as Mr. Truman charges, that three GOP leaders are playing politics (by bringing the spy ring investigation into the open) in seeking to take public attention away from his price control program, he is only paying the piper. Mr. Truman himself was solely impelled by political motives in calling the session in the first place, hoping to use Congress as a sounding board for his socialistic regimative and spending schemes.—Putnam County (O) Gazette.

It is untrue that the cure for high prices lies in controls and rollbacks. Nothing would do more to discourage production and to give the country a taste of what the public state is like. Inflation must be attacked by dealing with causes, not symptoms. Economical government, combined with tax policy that offers incentives should be the first step. More and more production is required, not more and more government.—Long Island Sun.

Only the most informed, intelligent and determined action can save the United States from socialization by taxation. Lane D. Webber, Cal. Taxpayers Assn.

Stoles to add to wool dresses. An outstanding dress we saw in the work room of one of Chicago's best. Junior designers recently had a plaid skirt and solid top, separate plaid stole that all of the top buyers feel will be a news item when it hits the fashion ads.

AUTHENTIC CLAN PLAIDS

You don't have to be Scotch to appreciate the romance and stories that come to mind when you see the marvelous array of True Plaid that is in the Town and Country preview for Fall and we add you do not need to be a going back to school miss to wear them either, you can be a Town Career Gal or a Country home manager but if your new fall wardrobe boasts a soft pastel plaid or a bright bold one you are going to be rated among the best dressed in our fashion list of Who's Who. Let's show our Clan colors and if we don't have a Clan we can adopt the one most becoming to our style of beauty. So my Bonnie-lads and lessies we bid ye adieu.
